WHAT'S IN <FIRST NAME>'S FUTURE?

College may still be a couple of years away for [student's first name], but we know you are already thinking ahead to university options—and beyond to the ever-changing job market.

We want you to know that at Southern Adventist University, our students' futures are our priority! While that certainly includes offering outstanding academics, career development tools, and internship opportunities, it also means keeping God at the center of everything we do. From the moment students step onto campus, they are surrounded by dedicated, caring professors and staff who are committed to helping them discover their passions, along with God's purpose for them.

The best way to see how this makes a tangible difference in the lives of students is to come see for yourselves. We would love to have you and [student's first name] visit Southern; we'll take you on a tour, give you opportunities to talk with current students, introduce you to professors in the departments of your choice, and answer all of your questions.
